REVIEW'S WANT COLUMN

SALE—Nice sweet potato S. C. Baker, Mutual phone. 46p

—Lady's slate color jacket, trim n black. Somewhere between 's store and the second corner of town. Phone Rev. Brown, m or leave at Review office.

ICKENS Cured—Of Gapes, Lim- k, Blackhead and Cholera. Buy s the poultry doctors medicines cure. At the Western Produce illisca. 50p

UND—A child's gold locket and on the streets of Villisca yes- . It can be had by calling at ffice and paying for ad, 25c.

T:—Necklace chain and locket. H engraved on back, Saturday oon. Please return to Review

T:—Electric tail lamp for auto, please notify E. L. Jenkins, a, Iowa. 47p

ST BELIEVE IT

Well-Known Villisca People Tell It So Plainly

n public endorsement is made representative citizen of Villisca roof is positive. You must be- it. Read this testimony. Every er of kidney backache, every woman or child with kidney le will do well to read the fol-

s Martha Withrow, School St., a, Iowa, says: "I gladly con- the statement I gave for pub- on in favor of Doan's Kidney some years ago. The cure they has been permanent and I have no occasion to use a kidney dne since. My principal trouble idney secretions. My back was and painful and I tired easily. an taking Doan's Kidney Pills all other preparations failed. acted just as was said they and I was soon feeling well."

sale by all dealers. Price 50 Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, York, sole agents for the Unit- Remember the name— —and take no other.

THE FESSLER STORE

UNDERTAKING & EMBALMING

N. FESSLER
UNERAL DIRECT'R

utheast Corner of Square ve us a call and get our ices. Both phones in store d residence. Ring me up en making night call.

C. B. & Q. R. R. TIME TABLE

ffect 12:01 a. m. Nov. 5, 1911.

GOING EAST

2—Chicago Flyer....6:52 p. m.
4—Chicago Local....1:00 p. m.
6—Chicago Flyer.....9:33 a. m
8—Mail Only.....8:43 p. m
10—Burlington Flyer..3:19 a. m.
12—Chicago Express..8:59 p. m
14—*Creston Local....6:25 p. m.

GOING WEST

1—Denver Flyer.....3:52 a. m
3—Omaha Local.....12:57 p. m.
5—Denver Flyer.....5:19 a. m.
7—Mail Only.....12:42 p. m
9—Denver Flyer..8:30 p. m.
11—C. Bluffs Local..7:38 a. m.
15—Mail Only.....6:35 a m

GOING SOUTH

46—*St.Joe Passenger 6:45 a. m.
48—*Clarinda Pass..9:00 p. m.
98—Clarinda Pass....1:15 p. m.

COMING NORTH

45—*St.Joe Passenger 8:25 p. m.
47—*Clarinda Pass....7:15 a. m
99—Clarinda Pass....6:20 p. m.

* Daily except Sunday

A. N. & S. TIME TABLE

Effect December 25, 1911.—

Northbound

5—Lv. Villisca.....7:50 a. m.
Lv. Sciola.....8:10 a. m.
Lv. Morton's Mill..8:20 a. m.
Lv. Grant.....9:10 a. m.
Ar. E. Atlantic..10:15 a. m.
Ar. W. Atlantic..10:30 a. m.

Southbound

6—Lv. W. Atlantic 1:30 p. m.
Lv. E. Atlantic..1:45 p. m.
Lv. Grant.....3:20 p. m.
Lv. Morton's Mill 3:35 p. m.
Lv. Sciola.....3:45 p. m.
Ar. Villisca.....4:10 p. m.

J. GRAF, M. D. C.

Graduate Veterinary Surgeon
ce and Hospital East Side Sq.
promptly answered day or night
Phone—Mutual 17-133
ILLISCA : : : : IOWA

NEWS OF A LOCAL NATURE

Dr. M. N. McNaughton, whose serious illness was mentioned in these columns last week is failing rapidly. He is still able to recognize his friends, and is not suffering as he had been previously, but he is growing weaker and weaker, and his physician holds out but little hopes for a rally.

J. T. Hastings of Central City, Nebraska, who came to attend the funeral of Lena and Ina Stillinger, and had been visiting several days in the home of his sister, Mrs. J. Stillinger, returned to his home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miers went to Hepburn Saturday for a visit of several days' in the home of their son, Mannie Miers.

A new lot of ready made Corduroy and Lace Lingerie Dresses at Berg's Store.

Mr. and Mrs E. F. Kramer, of Mitchellville, Iowa, came Wednesday of last week and will spend the summer in the home Mrs. Kramer's parents, Mr and Mrs. G. T. Pratt, Mr Pratt had been teaching in the school at Mitchellville.

C E Jenkins left last night for Regina, Sask., Canada, for an extended visit at the home of his son, F. L.

Post cards 90c per doz. next Saturday at Churchill s Studio.

D. G. Cooper and wife, of Omaha, came to Villisca Sunday and spent the day in the home of the former's brother, Dr. J. C. Cooper, They came by the way of Red Oak and brought Mr. Cooper's parents with them.

THE LEADER

Specials for Saturday, June 22, and all next week.

Turkish Towels, 22x45 in. Turkish Towels, actual 25c values, a special purchase makes this price possible. Sale price 2 for 25c.

Salads, 10 in. Salads, beautifully decorated in fruits and flowers. 50c value, sale price 25c. 1 lot berry sets 75c value 48c.

Men's Shirts, blue chambray shirts, full cut, well made, sale price 39c.

Percale, 36 in. wide percale, all good patterns in navy, gray, reds, light blue and light patterns, regular 10c value, sale price 7½c.

Mrs. W. M. Binkley and two sons. William and Harold, went to Omaha yesterday for a week end visit in the home of her mother, Mrs. Y. D. Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beavers and daughters, Cora and Ruth, left last Saturday in their auto for Oklahoma where they would visit relatives for awhile. From there they expect to visit different points in Colorado and to go through the Yellowstone Park. They were undecided as to how long they would be away.

George Van Camp, of Greenfield, came for a short visit in the home of his brother, W O. Van Camp. Tuesday night, departing yesterday for Muscatine with his mother, Mrs. K. Van Camp, who will make her home at Muscatine for an indefinite time.

New lot Ladies' Corduroy White Skirts $1.98 and 2.50 —Berg's.

There are letters remaining uncalled for in the Villisca post office addressed to the following names: O S Sanders. Miss Sadie Tyler, Mr Chase Woods. Mr Earl Horton, Miss Louise Rowley, Miss Edith Spaulding.

A. Horton and wife, of Council Bluffs came Tuesday evening for a visit of a week or ten days with Mr Horton's mother, Mrs. M. J. Horton, and brothers, J. H., George and Robert. They will also visit his brother, William near Cumberland.

Mrs. T. J. Poston and Mrs. J. W. Eaton and their mother, Mrs. Landers, went to Red Oak Sunday to attend the funeral of Daniel Mullen. Mr. Mullen had been in poor health the greater part of the past winter and spring and was taken worse last week and died Thursday night. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon. Mr. Mullen for a number of years lived on a farm west of Holmes Chapel, and for a few years lived in Villisca. They moved to Red Oak about four years ago.

My fine $6.00 folder Photos only $3.50 per doz. next Saturday, cash with order. Churchill's Studio.

Mrs. W. D. Kerrihard of Seward, Nebraska, who had been visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Wyckoff, for the past three weeks, returned home Wednesday.

Special: We've added a new line of Children's White Dresses, all ages.—Berg's.

Rev. J. W. Taylor will go to Hastings next Sunday where he will deliver the chautauqua sermon in the afternoon. The chautauqua opened there today.

Miss Fausta Hill, who recently graduated from Cornell college, and had since been visiting friends in Des Moines, arrived home yesterday

Mrs. S. A. Moore and her brother Aaron Millner, of Chattanooga came the first of last week to visit in the home of the former's son in law, Frank Thompson. Mrs. Moore will spend the summer here and Mr. Millner will return after making a short visit with friends here.

Mrs. Stanley Van Zant and daughter of Clarinda visited in the Frank Cooney home yesterday forenoon. Mrs Van Zant was on her way to Denver to spend the summer with her son and her daughter accompanied her this far

Don't forget to have baby s picture taken next Saturday at Churchill's Studio.

H. F. Elliott who recently purchased the residence property on West Second Street of Thomas Bunker, of Red Oak, moved here from Red Oak with his family Monday of this week Mr Elliott travels for the Kirschbaum Creamery Co. of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Cash Bailey and sons, Clark and Alvin, of Lorimor, Iowa, visited from last Saturday until Tuesday in the home of their friends, Mr and Mrs. G. L. Edwards.

Miss Elizabeth Hugus returned Tuesday from Omaha where she had been in the hospital for more than two weeks and underwent an operation for appendicitis Mr. Hugus went to Omaha Tuesday morning to accompany her home. She stood the trip very well and is improving very rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. L Wiedeman of Essex, visited in the home of their son. Everett the first of the week.

Miss Maggie Pierce of Clarinda has been visiting friends in Villisca since last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Arnold of Creston visited in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ross Moore, Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Lizzie Means went to Nodaway Tuesday evening for a visit of several days in the home of her son.

Mrs. Dora Colwell of Greenfield, Ohio, who had been visiting in the home of her brother, T. N. Watts, for a week, went to Nodaway Tuesday evening to visit her sister, Mrs. Minerva Rolston.

Mrs. E. Hokansem and children of Omaha, who had been visiting for the past two weeks in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Larson, near Morton's Mills, returned home yesterday.

Miss Zada Cooper of Iowa City, who had been spending a few days in the home of her brother, Dr. J. C. Cooper, went to Red Oak yesterday to visit her parents.

Mrs. W. E. Sandall went to Red Oak Wednesday to spend the afternoon in the home of her husband's sister, Mrs. Mary West.

"There," a self satisfied commercial traveler said; "that's what I think you should do in the matter. I'm not a lawyer, but this is a bit of advice that costs you nothing. What do you think of it?"

"Well," replied his companion mildly, "it's worth it."—New York Mail.

It may be beer or it may be wine,
It may be booze that you think so fine;
The cup that cheers is filled with laughter—
But it always brings a morning after.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Why does that girl wear her hat while she's at work?"

"She only came today and isn't sure how long she will stay."—Tatler.

Economy has so impressed
A housewife named Viola
She bought three slabs of Switzer cheese
And importuned the dealer, "Please,
Before I pay may I try these
On our new pianola?"
—St Paul Pioneer Press.

"How about Venice? Shall we stop off at Venice?" "Venice, eh? How many pages does Venice take up in the guidebook?" "Eight." "In that case it must be worth a stop."—Washington Herald.

'Twill April be
As sure as heaven
Ere I stop writing
It 'll.
—Detroit Free Press.

Knicker—What are those panetelas like?

Bocker—They need the fire department to put them out, the police department to arrest the donor and the health department to cure the victim. —New York Sun.

I love the calendar so neat
That hangs on yonder wall,
Since it contains a list of dates
Of pay days as they fall

And yet with joy there comes a pain,
For as I gaze anew
It shows in figures fiercely plain
The days when bills are due.
—Washington Star.

"George says he likes that little curl over your right ear."

"I am glad to know that. I was just about to hang it on the other side."—Kansas City Journal.

In vain the eagle cries; his place
Is taken by his humble cousin.
The hen becomes the nation's bird
When eggs are fifty cents a dozen.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

John Henry Hunts a Flat

By GEORGE V. HOBART

Clara J. and I had cut short our honeymoon, fearing we might be bitten by my old pals who had developed phunnyphobia.

Behind closed doors at "mother's" we sat on the slopes of Arcadia and gave our fool friends the laugh by the absent treatment process.

Clara J. went through the newspaper ads. looking for apartments, and at the end of the week she had picked 219 winners.

One bright day, mother, Clara J., Tacks, and I sauntered forth for the purposing of finding a janitor tame enough to live in the same house with.

"A sweet little nest of our own," was the way Clara J. put it, but mentally I put the foot to that nest and pushed it out of the tree.

A nest, forsooth! Not if I saw it first. I had a friend once who built a nest in a Harlem flat, and three months later a strange bird flew in and eloped with his wife. So me for a dug-out with a yale lock on the front gate—always!

The first palace we entered bore up bravely under the name of "Heliotrope hall."

I suppose they had sprinkled that name over it so as to counteract the effects of the stiff fight a soap factory was putting up four blocks away.

"Heliotrope hall" was all right, but it wouldn't do. The janitor showed us through a collection of horse stalls on the third floor, and when I asked him if he knew any place around there large enough to hold a table and two chairs he blew out his cylinder head.

The janitor told us there were only three dark rooms, and when I told him that three was too many for us and not quite enough for a photographer I thought he'd bite me.

In the meantime Tacks was out in the hall cutting his initials on the dining-room door with a penknife.

Tacks always manages to leave a wide, white wake behind him as he sails through life.

Our next guess was a high bundle of stone tied up with strings of white windows and called "The Daisyora."

Wouldn't that name make your pulse beat faster?

I've often wondered how apartment houses and Pullman cars manage to do business under the burden of the bitter names that are thrust upon them. Fancy a big slob of a car rolling through the country with the name "Babyetta" painted all over it!

I should think it would want to crawl in a tunnel and never come out again.

The janitor in "The Daisyora" was made up to look like a walrus.

When I told him what we were looking for he showed us two tusks and led the way to the elevator.

That fellow had the softest voice I ever heard. Every time he spoke it sounded like somebody hitting a fat squash with a paddle.

After the janitor had shown us through the cubby-hole he said that no children were allowed there.

"Why not?" I said. "It looks nearly large enough."

Then he ran the tusks out again and we quit him.

Three blocks away we anchored for a few minutes at a bungalow called "The Dulcydooza."

A colored bell-boy met us at the door and dared us to come in.

We were offered a flat on the fifth floor, but the walls were so close together I told them they'd better save it. It might be a success as a place to press autumn leaves, but never as a place to live in, unless the tenants went through life standing up.

Tacks took a knob off one of the doors as a souvenir, and we wended our weary way.

At last we found one that my wife said was a dream.

I let her sleep.

It was a jeweled joint with seven rooms and a landlord.

There were self-folding doors and hot and cold gas in every room.

The gas meter had ball-bearing axles and was guaranteed to exceed the speed limit set by law.

The dumbwaiter was so lazy that every time it went to work it let out a yell of mortal agony, and the floors were sound-proof against everything but noise.

The outlook provided a superb view of an uncompleted excavation, with blasting from eight to nine, explosions from 12 to two, and malaria at all hours.

However, Clara J. took a violent fancy to the cage, and in order to show her that her love was reciprocated the janitor pinched my gloves.

This particular janitor was Charles the Real Oh, but maybe he wasn't the lad with the loud lingo!

As soon as we butted-in he picked mamma out as a steady listener, and he led her through a field of prose where the large, fat words grew in rich profusion.

When a child I fancy he must have pushed a pocket dictionary under his scalp, for he had the largest collection of homeless language I ever listened to.

"You will notice, mem," he chatted on, "that the builder was very essential in obtaining large rooms so that the tenants might confirm to their own comfort. Yes, mem, they's stationary washtubs in the kitchen; and you will notice, mem, that the wainscoating in the dining-hall is percolated so as to inflict itself necessarily upon the harmony of the decorations you may select. Yes, mem, it is all open plumbing."

Clara J. took me by the arm and led me through the condensed catacombs, pointing out to me the objects of interest along the route.

"This room," she said, stepping into a niche in the wall, "we'll fix up for your den."

"It might make a good den for a squirrel, but not for me," I said. "Why, there's scarcely room to growl in a den like this."

"Nonsense, John!" she laughed. "There's plenty, plenty room."

"That's because it hasn't been papered," I explained, and then we moved on to the next stand.

"Oh, what a cute little dining-room!" she exclaimed rapturously.

He Picked Mamma Out as a Steady Listener.

"It is cute," I said. "It looks like a mouse trap."

The dining-room was just about large enough for two people and a bottle of pepsin.

Then the janitor turned on his current again. "This, maddum, is one of the most conducive dining-rooms that has ever been desicated for the essential comfort of the tenants. The builder disemployed much deliberation in the plan of these apartments. Yes, mem, they's an electric foot-bell under the table, which is very essential to the servants."

"I rather like the place," said Clara J.'s mother. Then, to the janitor: "Is it a pleasant neighborhood?"

"Delirious, maddum, deliriously so!" he replied. "They's a swell beer garden only three blocks away for them as likes their toddy in public, and the police station is only four blocks east. Some people finds considerable enjoyness in deliberating the cause of justice as it is dispelled in a police station; but, for my part, I preference a good brisk walk of an evening, which is always essential to an exercising standpoint."

I theught that speech would cure Clara J., but she was still in dreamland.

The place pleased her, so I made up my mind she should have it. With the exception of the janitor's vocabulary it certainly was the best cellar we had found so far, and I was game to hang up my hat there if she was.

Clara J.'s mother and I trooped into the sitting-room to discuss the situation, and I was down on the floor getting the diameter and circumference of the room with my thumb when the janitor rushed in.

"Well," he said breathlessly, "I'm glad that your discretion has resulted so pleasantly."

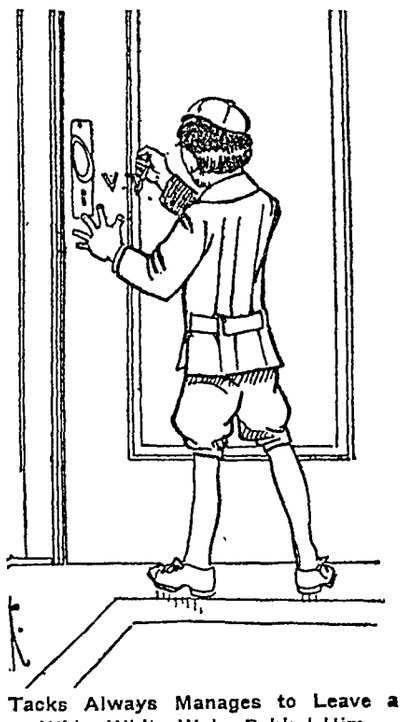

I thought he meant me, so I apologized for picking holes in the floor with my thumb.

"Your apology is untakeable," he answered. "Since you have decided to acquire the apartment that is the necessary essential."

"What makes you think we've decided to take it?" inquired Clara J.

"The little boy who is with you," the janitor said gravely. "By some mysterious concern he secured my hatchet, and for fifteen minutes past he has been chopping down the woodwork in the butler's pantry, which is at times fatal to the building. But, of course, since you decide to take the apartment the damage is immaterial only to those who are essential by living there."

"Go," I said, "and tell that boy we've rented the apartment, but we're not going to take it away in a basket."

Tacks Always Manages to Leave a Wide, White Wake Behind Him.

Tacks, with his little hatchet, had found a home for us.

(Copyright by G W. Dillingham Co.)

FRANKLIN'S CLOTHES STORY

Is Brought Out Again for Airing and It Is Urged That Our Diplomats Should Follow Example.

Every now and then when a laudable effort is made to dress our diplomatic corps in something more befitting their dignity on ceremonial occasions than the funereal spiketail or waiter costume in which they are now garbed, a cry is raised by some of our representatives in congress that such a change is undesirable, and the old story of the way Franklin appeared at the court of Louis XVI. of France is brought out again for an airing, and it is urged that our diplomats should follow his example.

Franklin, it will be remembered, appeared among other foreign ambassadors and the uniformed generals and admirals at court in a plain suit, such as he was accustomed to travel in. The French, ever eager for novelty, hailed the innovation with momentary enthusiasm and supposed it was the costume of an ambassador from a poor and struggling nation.

As a matter of fact, Franklin had no intention of wearing the suit in which he appeared, and until he found out its effect, he probably had an uncomfortable time of it, for he was a man with an acute sense of the fitness of things. Some time before he had ordered a handsome court suit and expected to make as fine an appearance as any other foreign ambassador, but the tailor from whom he had ordered the suit did not get it finished in time and Franklin had to go in the only suit he had ready. He continued to wear it after his court suit was done, as he saw he had made an unintentional "hit." When he was in England, he wore a handsome court dress of velvet, embroidered with gold.—The Christian Herald.

A Big Maine Eagle.

Mrs. Andrew Harriman of Bucksport, a few days ago killed an eagle with an ax in her poultry house, and her quick action undoubtedly prevented her receiving severe injuries in an encounter with the bird. The persistent barking of the dog drew her attention to the hen house, and on looking within she saw a large bird causing a strange commotion among the hens. Thinking the bird to be a hawk, she grabbed an ax from a nearby woodpile and, strengthened by excitement and fear for the safety of her hens, she dealt the big bird a blow which killed it at once. She was greatly astonished to find that she had, unaided, killed an enormous golden eagle. The eagle had bitten the head off one of the hens and his talons had done other damage. The eagle measured seven feet from tip to tip of its powerful wings, and from his feathered legs talons two and one-half inches long protruded.—Kennebec Journal.

Right in the Solar Plexus.

Mrs. Uppson—Pardon me, but where did you get the design for your servants' livery

Mrs. Newgelt—Oh, our ancestors used it.

Mrs. Uppson—Indeed! And by whom were they employed?

Physical Conditions.

"Is your board going to stand for this state of things?"

"My dear sir, our board is not going to stand for anything, unless we have had a sitting."