DEAD ... IMMEDIATE TRIAL

... Boys for Rev. Kelly to Ask that He Be Tried Without Delay

... TER FEELING FOR BROWN

Crowd of Montgomery County Citizens Attend Indignation Meeting at Red Oak Last Saturday

Red Oak, Tuesday, October 2.—The feeling here against T. C. Brown, who caused the one-man deadlock in the jury room last week and held out to the finish against the acquittal of Rev. Kelly, is still very bitter. Groups of men on the streets, in the hotels and cigar stores are still trying the case over and over again and a verdict is rendered every few minutes. "I can see how a man could hold out against eleven others to prevent a man from being hanged, but to insist upon convicting a person when eleven men say that he should be acquitted is more than I can understand," or words to that effect, is the remark that is heard on every hand, and it is very evident that the feeling in Montgomery county has been made worse instead of better by the fact that the jury was "hung" in this manner.

Mr. Brown was the last juror accepted. He was seriously objected to by the defense.

Rev. Kelly will probably be placed on trial again within a few weeks according to Attorney T. J. Hysham, of the defense, who stated this morning that Kelly's attorneys will insist upon an immediate trial.

The End Not Yet

Will the end of the present Kelly trial mark the final chapter in the Villisca ax tragedy, now demanding the attention of the entire state? The answer to the above question, which was contained in the columns of The Review of last Wednesday, is found in the action taken here last Saturday afternoon when to the accompaniment of loud cheers ... citizens of Montgomery county, assembled in mass meeting, gave their solemn pledges never to rest until Attorney General Havner has been removed from office and until men other than Rev. Kelly have been brought to answer for the Villisca crime.

At the close of the meeting about $300 was subscribed to aid in the defense of Kelly at his next trial.

Resolutions demanding the resignaion of Attorney General Havner for alleged malfeasance in office, were unanimously adopted. They charged Havner with constant association and consultation with a man whom they say the public has reason to believe was implicated in the Villisca murder, and asserted that such action had ... for the Attorney General the confidence of the people who wanted the guilty punished regardless of ... might be.

Kelly to Remain in Red Oak

Disagreement ... jury left Kelly in the position ... was before the trial started. His guilt or innocence of the Villisca ax murder has not been established, and, according to statements of Attorney General Havner, the indictment of the grand jury will not be dismissed, which, inferentially, at least, means another trial will be held.

The prisoner was ordered remanded by the court to jail at Logan, Harrison county, but Attorney W. E. Mitchell went before Judge Woodruff last Friday and secured an order that Kelly is to remain in the Red Oak jail instead of being taken to Logan. The formal order was then mailed by Mr. Mitchell to Attorney T. J. Hysham, the Red Oak counsel for the preacher.

The order briefly states that inasmuch as Kelly had been taken to Red Oak for trial, from Logan, where he was taken early in the summer upon order of Judge Woodruff, and that the next term of court is to begin at Red Oak in a short time, the prisoner is to be kept in Red Oak instead of being taken back to Logan.

The next term of the district court is to be held, in regular course, at Red Oak, on October 16, two weeks from yesterday. Judge J. B. Rockafellow of Atlantic, who tried the Jones-Wilkerson slander suit a year ago, in the normal course would preside over the October term this year.

BUILDING NEW HOUSE

John Kendall, living seven and one-half miles southeast of Villisca, is building a new farm residence that is going to be right up to "snuff." The old house has been torn down and carpenters began work on the new one Monday morning of this week. The new home will contain ten large rooms and will be equipped with every modern convenience.

W. G. DAVIE SELLS FARM

W. G. Davie last Saturday sold his farm of one hundred and forty-eight acres just east of Villisca to Messrs. F. G. Borrusch and T. R. White. This is the farm now occupied by George Davie and possession will be given March 1st. T. R. White will take possession at that time. The consideration for the farm was $27,380 and F. L. Ingman made the deal.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

The campaign for the second liberty loan began Monday morning of this week. Let's boost for it and do our full share toward making it a great success. This is a $3,000,000,000 issue of bonds which will bear four per cent interest with valuable tax exemptions.

A FUTURE SUBSCRIBER

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Voss of San Antonio, Texas, September 24th, a son, and his name is John. The mother was formerly Miss Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolt, who are also residents of San Antonio at this time, but who are well known here.

Chas. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Reynolds, left Villisca Saturday evening to report in Colorado this week with their quota for the big national army. He expects to be sent to Ft. Riley for training.

DEFEAT RED OAK 40 TO 0

Villisca Team Defeat County Seat Boys on Their Own Field Friday

SAID TO HAVE BEEN ROUGH

Local Backfield Make Gains at Will in Last Half—Red Oak Seldom Makes Downs

The Villisca high school football team returned to this city from Red Oak last Friday evening jubilant over the fact that they had decisively defeated the team from the county seat high school. The score was 40 to 0. Villisca spectators at the game report a very rough game at Red Oak.

From all reports Coach Moore's men were better at the game the longer they played. They made a touchdown in each of the first two quarters and seemed to be able to hold their opponents to a standstill in the meantime. When the third quarter began they were off like a streak and scored three touchdowns before Red Oak knew what they were up to almost. End runs were the best attacks used by Max Gourley, Harold Winter, Ronald McPherrin and Captain Tommie Stallings of the Villisca backfield, but that quarteette of scrappy players were also able to place the forward pass into operation to good advantage at various points in the game. George Taylor and Walter Arbuckle proved especially adapt at receiving these passes and carrying them on for a good gain. Sidney Moore at center, Ralph Gourley and Teddy Reed at tackle, and Donald Driskill and Everett Watt, at guards, composed the remainder of the line-up for the Villisca team.

Friday evening the Villisca team and the substitutes, the two yell leaders and Messrs. Moyers and Guiler were all guests of Miss Helen Pogge, Domestic Science teacher in the local high school, at her home in Red Oak for dinner. The boys all report a very pleasant time in Miss Pogge's home.

Next Friday afternoon the local team will play Corning high school on the local field.

ANNOUNCE LYCEUM COURSE

Season's Entertainment to Be Given by Redpath-Vawter System Under High School Auspices

On another page of this issue of The Review Supt. Hamersly announces the Winter's Entertainment Course for Villisca. The course consists of five numbers and will be presented by the Redpath-Vawter System talent. The five numbers are as follows:

October 13, The Smith-Spring-Holmes Orchestral Quintet.

October 31, The Honolulu Entertainers.

December 7, Roy E. Bendell.

January 18, Henry A. Adrian—The Burbank Man.

February 14, The Irish Players.

First Number Next Week

The Spring-Smith-Holmes Orchestral Quintet, the first number of the course, will appear in Villisca Saturday evening of next week. Like all of the numbers of the course, these people come highly recommended to the Villisca audiences. Their program will be given at the Villisca armory, as will all of the programs of the course.

Supt O. Hamersly announces that season tickets can now be obtained at the Myers Music Store or from him. Adult season tickets are being sold for $1.50 and school children tickets are being sold for seventy five cents. Season ticket prices include reserve seats for the purchaser.

HAVE FORD AGENCY

E. E Jenkins and Harold Peters of the Jenkins garage Saturday completed the arrangements in Omaha for the Ford Agency in Villisca. The Villisca gentlemen report that they will have their Ford parts and accessories in a few days and later will have the cars here for distribution. The Ford people have made a new standard for their agencies in various communities and the new building that has been erected by E. E. Jenkins makes this firm amply qualified for the agency in Villisca.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Overman spent Sunday in Red Oak in the ... Lar... son home. Mrs. Overman went to Red Oak Saturday noon and was joined Sunday morning by her husband.
